DESCRIPTION

Playful, poetic and pared back, Space Copenhagen's design team have reimagined the traditional lantern with the calming and characterful Unbound Table Lamp. With the teardrop-shaped marble base acting as an anchor, the white linen or natural canvas shade can be effortlessly rotated around it, as though it were a sail, gently billowing. Its dark antique brass 'mast' supports an array of dimmable LED lights within the shade that create a soft, diffuse and evenly distributed light. The smallest of the three Unbound Lamps, it can be used as both a standalone table lamp and a floor lamp. By placing it together with the Large and Medium Unbound Floor Lamps, it helps create a sculptural cluster. Changing the angles of the 'sails' to each other makes a calming, floating and dynamic sculpture, even when switched off. This balance of character and sophistication make the Unbound Floor Lamps destined to grace both the private home and grand projects alike.
